I Married A Communist

I Married a Communist is a Philip Roth novel concerning the rise and fall of Ira Ringold, known as "Iron Rinn." The story is narrated by Nathan Zuckerman, and is one of a trio of Zuckerman novels Roth wrote in the 1990s depicting the postwar history of Newark, New Jersey and its residents. Ira and his brother Murray serve as two immense influences on the school-age Zuckerman, and the story is ...

Still, I Married a Communist addresses the culture of the old Left more directly than any of Roth's earlier works. In its first chapter, Nathan fondly recalls the long ago day when he met Paul Robeson at a Newark rally, and the great man instructed him: 'Don't lose your courage, young man.' From that point of departure, the book examines both the stirring idealism and the ruthless ...
